**SECIFIC PILL for the radical cure of genorrhea, gleet, and all unpleasant discharges from the urethal is now the only remedy used for those distressing maladies. Their celebrated inventor, Prof. V. in his last lectures at the hospital of "La Charite in Paris," speaks of them in the following terms: "Gentlemen, I have used these Pills for a considerable time with ut a single instance of failure, and after having tried every remedy known for these diseases, and after an experience of twenty-five years, I have no hesitation in pronouncing them to be the best remedy for gonorrha or gleet, at present known to the medical profession."

gonorrha or gleet, at present known to the medical profession."

The New York College of Medicine and Pharmacy, having obtained the recipe for those Pills from their celebrated inventor about six months since, have sold over two thousand boxes, and defy any case to be produced where they have not effected a cure. Among the many advantages they possess over the old treatment, the following are worthy of notice, viz: Their effect is certain, they contain ne mercury, or any medicine calculated to injure the constitution. They allow the patient to follow his ordinary business, without tainting the breath, disagreeing with the stomach, or causing the least suspicion that the patient is under any medical treatment.

Sold in boxes containing 100 pills, at $1 per box. To medical practitioners and druggists $9 per dozen boxes.

one of Sherman's Poor Man's Plasters, which will cure the Rheumatism, Lumbago, nain or weakness in the side, back, breast or any part of the body in a few hours; many who have used them wouldn't be without them for any money—for no other plaster ever did half the good. J. W. Hoxie, Esq. was cured by one of them when he was bent almost double with the Rheumatism. So popular are these plasters that unprincipled men have attempted to palm off worthless imitations for them; be sure you get the genuine Sherman's Poor Man's Plaster. **Go SARSAPARILLA.**—The members of the College of Medicine and Pharmacy of the city of N. York beg respectfully to announce to the American rublic that their preparation of Sarsaparilla, Gentian and Sarsafras is prepared under the superintendence of scientific medical practitioners, well acquainted with the medicinal properties and cuit dig powers of each root, and the exact proportions one should bear to the other.

The public will thus at once see the superiority of such an article over the common Syrup of Sarsaparilla manufactured by the druggist who cannot be expected to possess sufficient medical knowledge to make a really beneficial expact, but depend entirely for the sale of it by pulfing advertisements and bartering their mixture for certificates. The genuine Extract of Sarsaparilla, Gentian and Sarsafras prepared by the College, has now been before the public for one year, and the best proof of its efficacy lies in the vastly increased demand for it and the flattering testimonials of the members of the medical profession generally. In all diseases arising from impurity of the blood, its effect is truly beneficial—such as scrotuls, salt rheum, cutaneous eruptions, chronic rheumatism, syphilitic affections arising from the abuse of mercury, enlargement of the glands and all other diseases arising from a deranged state of the system—Sold m single bottles 75 cents each; cases containing half a dozen $3.50; do do one dozen $6.

MONEY MARKET. Sunday, April 16-6 P. M.

The Bank of Pennsylvania having been galvanised, re-sumes its business to morrow. It will last probably until the State and banks have sold out its stock.

After a few days trial the new Board of Brokers find that the new Exchange Room answers admirably for their business. A wooden floor is to be laid, and the canopy to be made thicker, so as eff ctually to do away with the reverteration. The public seem to take great interest in the affair. The attendance daily is large, and as the pro-gress of events purges the association of its weaker mem. bers, confidence increases. Its leading features of publi-city, and commissions on the net amount of sales, instead of on the par value of stock, are very popular. Should stock business revive to anything like the extent which it reached a few years since, the new Board would undoubt edly absorb the other. The number of members at both Boards is increasing rapidly, and it would seem advisable that some limit should be fixed to it. For instance, the number of stock brokers on the Paris bourse is fixed, we believe, at 60—the price of a license is f120,000. The number of members can on no account be increased. A scence of some member. These, therefore, always com-mand a very high premium. A similar arrangement might be introduced at the new Beard, by fixing the num-ber in the constitution, and issuing certificates of membership, which shall be transferable-the association to have the right of approval. The old Board are now working to disadvantage, and are caught in their own trap. When all prices of stocks fell under par they passed a rule that all commissions should be charged on the par value. New York and Government stock are now above par, and they must submit to loss of commissions or re-alter the rule to suit themselves. This seems a little taken the room they occupy in the third story of the Exchange building for another year. As James G. King has now become landlord of the whole building he may turn out the new Board-very little other than speculative bu-ition of affairs in England is most remarkable in on to the currency. In January, 1842, the rate of inin London was 6 per cent. At that period, the was beginning to recover from the long depression which she had been laboring. In the fall of the bank of France lent her £4,000,000 to preserve tanding, and sustain the whole paper system and of Great Britain. The return of bullion to the vaults bank was very slow, notwithstanding the severity pressure upon the mercantile community caused convulsive contractions of the bank to get back its The evidence of this distress was seen in the ous price to which money rose in January 1812, 6 per cent-higher than it was ever known before. state of things forbad the entering into new en-ents, and the destruction and settlement of old ones business of the country prostrate. banks, which immediately supply the great operations business, has declined heavily, while the Bank circulation has kept pace with the wants of the government. The average of the three months ending January 1842, as compared with the last three, are as follows :

Country Banks. 18.516,817 16.021,000 Average. Hank of England
To January 1841, 16 899,000

This shows a remarkable change. The country banks have had their business diminished by the decline oftrade as much as the circulation of the Bank of England was increased by the wants of an insolvent government, occasioned by the loss of revenue growing out of the ruined trade. The return for February shows a more marked result. The Bank has been pushing its paper money upon a superabundant market to avert the bankruptcy of the government. The repudiation of the English debt hangs upon a hair. The welfare, almost the existence of the people, depends upon throwing it off. The next short crop will effect it.

Loss or Shir Cornenia — By the Acadia steamer, accounts were brought over respecting the total wreck of the splendid dirst class packet ship the Coundry, Commander Bell, belonging to Liverpool, during a heavy sale of wind, while on her outward passage to the United States. The passage, after leaving Liverpool, appears to have been exceedigly severe, the ship encountering a series of territe pales, and henry more that once, in crossing the Atlantic, nearly crushed to pieces as immens feebergs. At about two o clock in the merning of the 18th of February, the became a wreck, about 17 miles west of Atacalema Lighthouse. Directly the ship struck, the cre we exerted recognition at the time, prevented them, and the soon commenced to break up. The commander remained on board as long as he possibly could. He had previously had the ship's boats hoisted overboard, and finding there were no hopes of preventing the destruction of the vessel, he left her to the mercy of the tempest. In making for the shore, the boat which he was in capsized, and the whole of those in her would have inevitably perished, but for the promptness displayed by the rest of the ship's crew, in the other boats. By the time they were picked up they were almost exhausted. Upon the British comal being apprised of the disaster, he forthwith directed her Majesty's steam frigate Ardent to proceed to the wreek, in order, if possible, to save a nortion of the materials; but on its arrival, such was the position in which the ship lay that it was dangerous to go near her. Since then, it is said, the vessel has gone to pieces and disappeared. Her cargo was a most valuable one, consisting of merchandine and goods of every description, and is stated to have been worth from £2,600 to £15,600. The total loss is not far short of £70,000.—Liverpool paper.

FIRE PROOF IRON SAFES—See what the committee of merchan were selected to superinteed a trial to test the different kind from the state of the control of the Chests which had the best reputation in market, wi one of Wilder's Patent Salamanders, and they say in conclusion:

one of Wilder's Fatent Salamanders, and they say in conclusion:

The above was a fair 'rial, and was to us a convincing proof the superiority of Wilder's Salamander Safe over all others, and considering that it was exposed to an intense heat for a period of more than eight hours, while each of the others were destroyed by the same heat in Iras than two heurs, we have no bestation in saying that we consider Wilder's Salamander Safe nearly fire proof, and affording perfect security to books and papers in case of fire. We therefore take much pleasure in making this statement to the sub'ic, and in recommending to them Wilder's Tetent Salamander Fire Froof Safe, as fully entitled to their confidence.

Words by Eliza Coek.
Pm afton, Pm afton, on the fierce rolling tide.
The occan's my home, and my bank is my bride, &c. &c.

SONG—The Old Arm Chair.
I love it, love it, and who shal dare
To chide me for loving that old arm chair.

SCENA—The Dream of the Reveller; or the Three Houses.
Sung by Mr. Russell at the Great Temperance Meeting, held in the long room at Exeter Hall, London, in the presence of over 3000 persons.
Words by Charles Mackay, Esq.

Around the board the guests were met, the lights above them beaming.

beaming. And in their cups, replenish'd oft, the ruddy wine was streaming.

Their cheeks were flush'd, their eyes were bright, their hoarts with pleasure bounded.
The song was sung, the teast was given, and loud the revel sounded.
I drain'd my bumper with the rest, and cried, "Away with sorrow." Let us be happy for to-day, what care we for to morrow?"

But as I spoke my sight grew dim, and slumber deep came o'er me,
And, mid the whirt of mingling tongues, this vision pass'd before me—ke.

And, and the whirl of mingling tongues, this vision pass'd before me—ke.

NEW SONG—Robin Ruff

If I had but a thousand a year. Gaffer Green,
If I had but a thousand a year?
What a man would I be, and what sights would I see,
If I had but a thousand a year!—etc. etc.

NATIONAL ANTHEM—The Genius of Temperance.
Words by Henry John Sharne.
Words by Henry John Sharne.
Triends of Temperance, arise! the time is at hand—
Around its broad standard, we'll raily, we'll raily.
While the star-spangled bauner floats over our land—
Then let the proad eagle apread his wings wide asunder,
And break from the trammels which strive to enchain;
If we rise in our strength, if we speak but in thunder
The Genius of Temperance will flourish again.
THE NEWFOUNDLAND DOG

If we rise in our strength, it we speak but in thunder. The Genius of, Temperance will flourish again.

THE NEWFOUNDLAND DOG.

Words by F. W. N. Bailey.

Liferszer: — Wave-stemmer!—
Deep-diver!— away!
Night's shadows are closing
The portals of day:
On the breast of the billow
We hear his low wai!—
We have put up the radder,
And furl'd up the sai!.
No signal from heaven
Will show where he be;
And wherein he be driven
We men cannot see
Ho, Carlo, Newfoundlind!
Go follow his cry.
Ant graphingly answers
The sea-moaner's sigh,—&c., &c.

CANTATA—"The Mannae." By Mr. Russell.
Some years since a gentleman of fortune was conveyed to a lunatic asylum, and there conficed. The persons that accompanied him took an oath to those entrusted with the care of the eatbilishment, to the fact of his being a mannae. The more the unfortunate gentleman implored to be released, the more the unfortunate gentleman implored to be released, the more the unfortunate gentleman implored to be released, the more the unfortunate gentleman implored to be released, the more the unfortunate deathers in implored to be released, the more the unfortunate gentleman implored to be released, the more the unfortunate deathers in implored to be released, the more the death of the fact of his being a mannae. The treatment he received soon affected his reason; he became featite and eid. The strangert that carried him to the asylum were supposed to have been hired by some relatives, to whom his property would rever after his decease.

asylum were supposed to have been hired by some relatives, to whom his property would revert after his decease.

Part II.

SCENA—The Gambler's Wife;

Words by Dr. Goats.

Dark is the night! How dark! No light, no fire!
Cold on the hearth the last faint sparks expire!
Shivering she watches by the cradie's side,
For binn who pledged her love! Last year a bride.
Hark! 'his his footsteps! No, 'his gone!
L'ast: List! how wearily the time rolls on!
Uhy should he leave me thus? He once was kind!
And I believed 'would last! How mad! how blind!
Rest taee, my babe! Rest on. 'This hanger's cry!
S eep! for there's no food! the fount is dry.
Famine and cold their weaving work have done!
My heart must break! and thou!—he clock strikes one."
This song is intended to represent the feelings of a young wife and mother, under circumstances sufficiently strong to warrant the assertion that it is founded on fact, without exaggreeation. It represents the Gambler's wife and child, deserted by their natural protector, in the extreme of porfiely and starvation, for the pleasure' of play. The fire expires—the energies of life sink from want of food, and the mother young strives to hope in the midst of despair, appealing to the past with the memory of the bride, while vainly endeavoring to sooth her child with the energy of a mother's love, until the infant dies in her arms, and her heart is broken. The current of her feelings is interrupted only by the peal of the clock, and at the third hour the scene closes; while time strides onward in its menotonous march, regardless, as the world, of the issue.

BALLAD—Rockaway,
Words by Henry John Sharpe.
On and Loug-island's execit takere
Many an hour Pre whild away.
In list faug to the breakers nor!

SONG—My Mother's Bible.
Words by George P. Morris.

In listing to the breakers roar
That that wash the beach at Rockaway.

SONG—My Mother's Bible.

Words by George P. Merris.
This book is all that's left me now:—
Tears will unbidden start:—
With faltering lip and throbbing brow,
I press it to my heart.
For many generations passed
Here is our fam'ly tree:—
My Mother's handsthis Bible clasped,
She dying gave it me.

SCENA—The Ship on Fire.
Words by Charles Macky, Eag.
The storm o'er the ceean flew furious and fast,
And the waves rose in foam at the voice of the blastAnd heavily labor'd the gale-bearen ship,
Like as sout hearted swimmer, the scown at his lin.
Except when the theory I le mariner's path,
Except when the theory of a tempest that burst own is deen as intended a depict our feelings of pusses of their start of their mative land, buoyant with hope, and excited I articipated delish of being welcomed by friends, from they had been long separated.
